University Will Pay Tribute to Eleven At Banquet Dec. 14

More Than 300 to Attend;
Prominent Football Mentor
Will Speak

The finest tribute ever paid an athletic team representing George Washington will be accorded the football squad at a banquet in their honor planned for December 14 in the main ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel. Under the direction of the athletic committee of the Alumni Association, the University, the athletic department and the alumni will show their appreciation at this fete to this year's eleven which played the most difficult schedule, and in its record of six victories, two defeats and one tie, completed the most successful season in the annals of George Washington.

Along with this rise of Colonial gridiron standards has come a new and ever increasing interest in athletics at the University. More than 300 persons are expected to attend the banquet which will reflect this interest and be in keeping with the idea of "a greater George Washington."

As principal speaker for the occasion, a football coach of national prominence has been invited. Sharing the spotlight with him will be President Marvin and Coach Jim Pindle, who will address the gathering, while Pindle will also present the letter awards. Election of the captain for the next year by the letter men will then take place.

Max Farrington, assistant director of athletics, who is cooperating with the alumni committee in arranging the program for the evening, had this to say:

"We don't want to forget in the celebration of the successful season just past, the personal contribution of every man on the football squad. Without the cooperation of each, our season might easily have been one of uninterrupted failure. It is the hope of the athletic department, the Alumni Association, and our many friends that this banquet be a tribute to the entire squad."

Tickets, priced at $2.50 each, may be procured from Farrington in the gymnasium or from any of the following members: Francis W. Brown, Hurley-Wright Building; George Jackson, Interstate Commerce; Ralph Nagle, Internal Revenue; Joe Rutley, Peoples Life Insurance Building; Ivan Booher, Income Tax Unit; Kenneth Iverson, Federal Reserve Building; and Elton Billings, William Keller, and William Hanback, of the Law School.

Honorary Societies Give Joint Banquet

Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha
Lambda Delta Have Initiation
Dinner

Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary freshman scholarship fraternity and sorority, held a joint initiation banquet on Wednesday, November 30, at the Kennedy-Warren. President Cloyd Heck Marvin, Provost William Allen Wilbur, Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, Professor and Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., were guest speakers.

Joseph Danzansky, retiring president of Phi Eta Sigma, was toastmaster. He introduced W. Theodore Pierson, newly-elected president of Phi Eta Sigma, and Jane Edwards, president of Alpha Lambda Delta. Alpha Eta Epsilon, honorary dramatic fraternity, furnished the entertainment.

Six men and one woman were initiated into the organizations. The freshmen so honored are Charlotte Dubin, Newell Lusby, Alfred Kinney, Jr., Henry Lepper, Samuel Hillman, Israel Kamsky, and Bernard Margolis.

Membership in both organizations is attained after the first semester of the first year at the University if the student has a quality point index of 3.5 or more.

NOTICE!!!

Pre-Medical Students

All pre-medical students are advised to take the scholastic aptitude test for medical schools given by the Association of American Medical Colleges in Corcoran Hall 20, Friday afternoon, December 9, at 3 o'clock. The examination was adopted by the association three years ago and is a prerequisite for entry into practically all Class A medical schools throughout the United States. Students are reminded that failure to take this examination may exclude them from entry into a school of medicine.

New O.D.K. President

STEELE MCGREW

Election of Officers Staged by O. D. K.; McGrew President

Bill Hanback Chosen Vice-President; Jack Vivian, Secretary-Treasurer

Steele McGrew was elected president of the George Washington chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa at the annual election held Sunday afternoon. William Hanback was the choice for vice president, and John T. Vivian was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Plans have been formulated for the presentation of a cup, at the end of each gridiron season, to the football man who is considered to be the most valuable player to the team. Five sports writers of local dailies will act as judges in making the award. Actual execution of this project is dependent upon the approval of the athletic department.

In connection with the election of officers of Alpha Delta Circle, O. D. K. again breaks into the limelight and it is quite fitting that the threefold purpose of the undergraduate honor society be printed as follows:

First, to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities, and to inspire others to strive for conspicuous attainments along similar lines.

Second, to bring together the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life and thus to create an organization which will help to mould the sentiment of the institution on questions of local and intercollegiate interest.

Third, to bring together members of the faculty and student body of the institution on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

Troubadours Invite President and Mrs. Hoover to Comedy

President and Mrs. Herbert Hoover have been invited to be guests of the Troubadours at their forthcoming production, "Oh, Say! Can't You See?" to be held on December 14, 15, 16, and 17, at McKinley Auditorium.

Among the patrons and patronesses are Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Aspinwall, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, John H. Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Bowles, Walter C. Clephane, Miss Elizabeth Cullen, Robert Russ Kern, Miss C. Virginia Dieder, W. W. Stockberger, Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, and William T. Fryor.

President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin head the list of those invited to the opening performance. Members of the Board of Trustees, officers of the University administration, and the heads of the various schools will also attend as guests.

Debaters Will Meet Team From Ireland

George Washington debaters will meet a Trinity College, Dublin, team on December 16, in Corcoran 10, in the foreign debate sponsored here annually by the public speaking department. The question is: "Resolved: That capitalism has broken down." The Irish team will take the affirmative stand. No decision will be rendered.

The guest speakers, James J. Auchmuty and Garret E. Gill, of the Trinity College, Dublin, Debating Society, are members of the team chosen to represent the College Historical Society in intercollegiate competition, sponsored in this country by the National Student Federation of America.

University Women Entertain Mothers During Campus Visit

200 People Participate in Mother's Day Activities;
Tour Conducted

Approximately 200 people participated in the George Washington University Mother's Day program held last Thursday in honor of the mothers of all entering women of the University. Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance, estimated at least 60 mothers were present for the occasion.

Mother's Day began with the registration of visitors in Corcoran Hall, at 9 a. m. The parents were greeted by a reception committee composed of the Misses Atwell, Aubek, Cooper, Cornwell, Dyer, Gibbon, Hunt, Kirkpatrick, Lathrop, Lawrence, Mears, Rodgers, Towne, Mrs. Bowman and Dr. Purse.

An assembly was held at 9:30 with Dean William Allen Wilbur offering the invocation. Mrs. Barrows welcomed the mothers on behalf of the University and Marjorie Nelson, freshman, spoke for the daughters. Mrs. Henry M. Milburn responded for the mothers, thanking the University for the opportunity to visit the school and become acquainted with the faculty.

Greetings were extended to the mothers and daughters by President Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., and Dr. Katherine A. Chapman.

Students Conduct Tour
Under the guidance of a student committee, a tour of the University buildings and classes was made. Members of this committee were: Grace Haley, Dorothy Neiss, Betty Jacobs, Ruth Ann Parker, Marguerite Thomas, Charlotte Dubin, Rowena Chaffetz, Susan Gibson, Helen Swick, Dorothea Adams, M. M. Henry, Esther Talley and Catherine Cullen.

At noon, the department of home economics, under the direction of Professor Frances Kirkpatrick, served a luncheon in Corcoran Hall with 25 uniformed girls acting as waitresses. At its conclusion, Dr. Marvin made a short address and then introduced Dean Henry Grattan Doyle who made what Professor Wilbur characterized as "a perfect speech."

Mother's Day was brought to an end by the physical education department, under the direction of Professor Ruth Atwell, with an offering of dances and games.

The hostesses of Mother's Day were: Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. William Allen Wilbur, Mrs. Charles Edward Hill, Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, Mrs. Alva Curtis Wilgus, Mrs. Earl Baldwin McKinley, Mrs. John Raymond Lapham, Mrs. William Paul Briggs, Mrs. Warren Reed West, Mrs. Robert Whitney Bolwell.

American Sculptress Guest at Luncheon

Vinnie G. Barrows to Entertain
Saturday for Louise
Kiddler Sparrow

Mrs. Louise Kiddler Sparrow, noted American sculptress, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given to the Arts Appreciation Club by Mrs. Vinnie Giffen Barrows, director of Women's Personnel Guidance, on Saturday, December 10, at 1:15 p. m. in Lambie House.

After the luncheon the girls of the club will be invited to visit Mrs. Sparrow's studio at Crescent place, where she maintains some of her latest works.

The daughter of Wellington Parker Kiddler, of Boston, noted engineer and inventor, Mrs. Sparrow has studied extensively in Paris, Rome, and Rio de Janeiro. One of her works, a portrait statue of Col. Archibald Gracie IV, hero of the Titanic disaster, was placed in the National Museum two years ago.

Mrs. Sparrow has won numerous medals for her art works, many of them having been on exhibition in Washington Galleries.

Harmon Announces Glee Club Roster

First tenors, Allen, Embrey, Gibbs, Kilstein, Morris, Vernon; second tenors, Beattie, Cavett, Daniel, Freeman, Hill, Joiner, Law, Perry, Steier, Wells; baritone, Andersen, Brown, Claffin, Cushman, C. E. Cooper, Detwiler, Earl, Genna, Morgan, Stevingston, Street; basses, Barlow, Cook, Crocker, Hix, Hughes, Stanton, Stepler and Thomas.

Wishing to publicly express their esteem for President Cloyd Heck Marvin, members of the Board of Trustees, the faculty, and the administration are tendering a buffet supper in his honor in Corcoran Hall at 7:15 tonight.

At the supper, which is to be an informal affair, Dr. James Howard Gore, emeritus professor of mathematics, will preside. President Marvin will speak on his experiences during his recent Western trip, when he met with the various alumni clubs throughout the country.

At this time, the University will honor also the 27 men who have served the University for 25 or more years. This group includes:

Petitions for Class Elections Must Be On File Saturday

Plans for Campaign Night to
Be Held December 20 to Be Announced

Nominating petitions for delegates to the senior class council and junior class officers are being received by Miss Maude O'Flaherty, office of Columbian College, first floor of Building H. All petitions must be filed by 6 p. m. on Saturday, December 10.

Attention of the seniors is called to the fact that this is the only senior class election to be held this year, consequently, it is imperative that a capable delegate be elected from the senior class of each school in order to take care of graduation exercises and other matters. The delegates elected from each senior class will collectively form the Senior Class Council. From among its number, this council will in turn elect its officers.

Campaign Night Planned
Loren Murray, chairman of the Student Council committee on class organizations, has made definite plans for a "campaign night" on Tuesday, December 20. Seniors and juniors will hold separate conventions, at which nominees will be permitted to declare their platforms. Campaign managers will also be permitted to speak in behalf of their respective candidates. Balloting will take place on Wednesday, December 21.

Goldman's Unit Will Play for Engineers

Norman L. Goldman, a former George Washington University student, will direct the well-known Meyer Goldman's broadcasting orchestra which has been secured to furnish the music for the engineers' ball to be held at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel, Friday evening, January 13.

Goldman's orchestra has the distinction of being the first musical group to broadcast over the largest national network of 52 stations. Last season, they broadcasted regularly over the Dixie network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Fenlon, Stewart, Slaird and McCarver Mentioned for Mythical Eleven

THREE NAME STEWART

First Time in Three Years G.
W. U. Players Elected to Honor Teams

Nation-wide polls of sports writers have placed four G. W. men on all-American rosters. For the first time since Sammy Berkowitz was mentioned three years ago, Bu. and Blue gridmen have been named for national honors.

ZuZu Stewart, colorful guard, was named by three of the most authoritative boards making selection. International News Service, Hearst, and Associated Press writers all picked ZuZu among the 15 best guards in intercollegiate football. Stewart's gameness, determination, alertness, and fine sportsmanship were largely responsible for his selection. Football authorities in the press box and the "kids" that crawl under the fence are fully aware of his ability on the field and consider this honorable mention highly deserved.

Slaird's Ability Is Recognized
Another Colonial linesman to gain all-American recognition draws a clear contrast to Stewart—Walter Slaird. His playing in the view of the spectator is virtually colorless. But Slaird, who went through two football seasons unrecognized, is now considered the best tackle on the East coast, and one of the best in the country. His consistent drive and good judgment has piled up many enemy line plunges.

Johnny Fenlon, the spark plug of the Bu. and Blue backfield, was mentioned by only one all-American board. In the minds of many football fans, Fenlon should have been given higher recognition than this for his versatile services, but "Soapy's" public at home and abroad visualize in him the perfect back. Undoubtedly one of the best in the business, the Associated Press writers were the only ones to acknowledge his prowess.

Nig McCarver, flashy Colonial ball-carrier, also, received all-American mention. This fleet-footed back made gasps through every line that he met. When the announcer at the field telephone said, "McCarver through tackle" every writer in the press box knew he was good for anywhere from three to six yards.

Four Coeds Enter Oratorical Contest

Sigma Delta Phi Holds Annual
Freshman Contest Friday

The majority of seven contestants in the annual freshman oratorical contest, sponsored by Sigma Delta Phi, national honorary speech arts sorority, Friday, will be women. The contest will take place at 8 p. m., in Corcoran Hall, room 33. All orators are original and the two prize awards will be made at the class night exercises in June.

Thomas B. Atkins will attack the atrocities of war with "War is Hell," while Jane Finklin will discuss "The Flight of the American Farmer." A subject that has aroused much controversy lately will be dealt with in "Unfortunate Hawaii" by Lois F. Horsnell. Ernest M. Knight will speak on "College Spirit."

Marjorie Nelson will discuss politics in her speech, "Lobbying." The highly controversial "Philippine Independence" will be the subject of Edward C. Kemper. Alicia Mooney has chosen "The American Dreyfus Case" for her oration.

The judges for the contest will be: Mrs. Will Hutchins, an English teacher at Central High School and a member of the committee which has conducted Central's participation in the national oratorical contest since its origination; Mrs. Robert Clark, formerly a member of The George Washington University debating team and of Delta Sigma Rho, and now in charge of debating at the Paul Junior High School; and Professor W. Hayes Yeager, the Dewey professor of public speaking at this University.

Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, vice president of the District of Columbia Board of Education, will be the chairman of the contest.

Liberal Club Hears M. P.
A Fenner Brockway, former member of Parliament and chairman of the Independent Labor party of Great Britain, addressed the Liberal Club yesterday afternoon in Corcoran Hall. Dr. Lowell J. Ragatz, associate professor of history, was the chairman of the meeting.

We Believe That Department Heads Will Cooperate With Non-Resident Students

The University administration has been unable to extend the dates of Christmas vacation to become effective in the calendar of the current year.

The Hatchet feels, however, after interviewing several members of the administration and faculty, that a satisfactory handling of deserving cases can be achieved. We believe that professors and department heads will allow ample time off from classes for those individuals who otherwise would be unable to reach their homes in time for Christmas.

We hope, too, that students will not abuse whatever privilege may be extended them in this respect, for to do so would place in jeopardy the very good chance that exists for a longer Christmas holiday in next year's calendar.

We Favor Regular Concerts By the New Symphony Orchestra

George Washington University's latest cultural experiment has passed into the category of approved assets. The new University Symphony, the campus infant, has shed its swaddling clothes and emerged a healthy youngster. Its virility has been twice demonstrated to hundreds of students and alumni in as many weeks—the first time when it had its premiere in conjunction with the two Cue and Curtain performances, and more recently at the Alumni Association banquet held at the Mayflower Hotel.

Now that the organization has demonstrated its ability, we take this opportunity to suggest a method of presenting its wares before those of the student body who appreciate symphonic compositions.

OUR PROPOSAL CALLS FOR MONTHLY SYMPHONY CONCERTS TO BE GIVEN IN EITHER CORCORAN OR STOCKTON HALLS ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON. The initial concert could be given free of charge. Subsequent musicals could set an admission fee of 25 cents or experiment with a contribution system. Soloists could be called upon to perform with the twenty-six musicians comprising the orchestra.

Director Louis Malkus deserves more than casual commendation on his efforts thus far. It is up to him to make the products of his work available to the student body. And it is up to the student body to take advantage of such an opportunity to hear the orchestra. WE BELIEVE IT CAN BE DONE!

Not Enough Interest Is Evident In Junior and Senior Elections

Despite all that has been written and said regarding the significance of class elections students insist upon regarding the matter with the usual blissful calm and unconcern attending a backward group.

We suggest that the members of these two classes, especially the seniors at George Washington, awake and participate in the nomination and election of those who are to head their groups. More we cannot do. Unfortunately we lack the ingenuity to devise a manner of doing this most important task for you. It should be a privilege. If it has become a burden it is an important one coincident with study at a University! AND IT'S UP TO YOU TO EXERCISE YOUR FRANCHISE OR SHOULDER THE BURDEN!

Mother's Day Was Fine, But— There Should Have Been More Mothers

Mothers of George Washington students were campus guests during the week. It was the third annual Mother's Day. BUT ONLY SIXTY MOTHERS TOOK ADVANTAGE OF THE PRIVILEGE TO ATTEND THE UNIVERSITY FOR A DAY AS ITS GUESTS! Somewhere someone slipped up on something. We suspect it was lack of publicity and disregard of a complete invitation list which contributed primarily to the small attendance. May we suggest a real Mother's Day on the calendar of next year's events? AND ISN'T IT POSSIBLE TO GIVE DAD A "BREAK" AS A UNIVERSITY GUEST?

Court Season Begins

Bouquets and Brickbats

Tea Leaves and Learning.

There has always been something sinister along with the association of tea-pouring and all of its implications. And yet, turn where we may, it's "you'll excuse; I must attend a tea." For people who have little else to do, that is quite all right. We admire their proclivity and patience in the matter. But it is quite beyond us to conjure (try as we may) any legitimate reason for the brewing of steaming cups of tea to be carried along a crowded law school corridor perched at a precarious angle on a sauce dish and sipped in mild unconcern between the hours of 6 and 6:10 o'clock in the evening.

We grant that the mental obligations called forth by strenuous evening classes and "that empty feeling" quite prevalent in one who has missed his evening dinner is sufficient to call forth some stimulant. But, poor misguided souls that we are, an apple, orange, or even candy, furnishes sustenance for a second 55 minutes. Not so for coeds—oh, no!—tea in delicate green and tan cups—sugar—and perhaps even lemon. If one must drink, why not beef tea or broth? And if tea must be served at all—may we suggest to Law School coeds that they adopt Buff and Blue as the official tea-cup colors!

"How Deep Is the Ocean?"

It remains for Dr. Paul Bartsch of George Washington University and the National Museum to answer that lyrical question. To those who would become sentimental and plight their love in such reckless terms in the windblown informality of a rumble seat, we suggest caution. While the Atlantic harbors depths in excess of five miles, and Professor Bartsch is in hopes of finding even greater oceanic abysses, this seems rather questionable fervor for anyone who is really in love.

But, quite seriously, we cannot help but appreciate the possibilities of the Bartsch expedition. Not so many moons past, Dr. William Beebe made startling revelations as to the mysteries of the oceanic depths. We sincerely trust that Dr. Bartsch's activities will produce results as interesting and vital to science. And we are doubly happy because Dr. Bartsch is a member of the University faculty. And when the yacht "Caroline" sails forth on January 15, it's a hearty "Bon Voyage" to you, Dr. Bartsch, and to all of your associates.

ANTON OMASIA.

CHIPS

Bull-etin: Music is integral part of Troubadour show, says Beattie. Will the person who hid his lunch in The Hatchet office please tell us where it is.—We give up. "Oh, Say, can't you see?" What?—those stickers or Sherry in the chorus. Along the chorus line, it must have caught Betty (Coed) Reynolds in the neck on Hummummin night when she led the chorus and little bit Sherry took the bow. For A. D. P. pledges. You stoops, why do you think the chapter pledged so many? They expect S. Claus, nee pledges, to bring them a riddle this Noel so they can make as much noise as the Chi O's, even if the latter does have Slinker. Bob Savage paradoxically informs us that the "wandering Greeks" are looking for a nice place to settle down. The dance season opened with a bang last week, and a lot of young freshmen coeds seeking a place in the social sun or what you will. Not being a Kappa, Rollo did not have the key to the Sigma Nu affair, but we suppose they were reserving their hospitality for the T. U. O. and Acadia dances, where most of them were seen later. Wizzy tizzies or something goes to the Acadia for a very orderly successful dance—An affair on the square—Here's a few notes. It looks like Scotty's Giffen Fesler back to Remon. We wonder where Hudson was headed when his date sings out "Now, Minor, mind you come right back and don't be long." Harrington appeared in a new role, the pure but chased by song bird Stetler, who in a much better Stetler than Al Johnson. As to dress style, as yet the season has produced nothing very striking, although "Sis" Norford, Phi Mu transfer from William and Mary (very nice, by the way) emulated the Mary King back model in a black silk. Marjorie Mitchell went over in one of those drapy white satin thing-a-majigs, while the rest of the women either wore last year's once more or came sensibly clothed. Hart Parker wandered about in a little act entitled "Just a Theta Delt out for a big time." The Haley sisters seem to have neglected their high school enamoreds for the relentless quest of the elusive ZuZu. In 2 days' time Thelma Gallahan emerges from a neurotic blond into a vivacious Helen Morgan brunette, or is it just the left-over effects of Homecoming. If they want a real hunger army, they should visit the University on the 14th and 29th of any month. They say that the Troubadours have such a hot show that the cast had to doff their coats in the campus yard last week in order to practice a few shots. Vinnie G's Mothers' Luncheon went off with a bang—the bang coming when a cartload of Home Ec's best dishes tipped over on G Street. A certain gym instructor is biting her finger nails because Mildred Draper took her appointment as temporary freshman sports manager to be a special permit to reorganize the Physical Ed department. How's business, Mildred?—other people's business? Considering how W. A. A. encouraged Dean Doyle (the cut-up) at their banquet, we have changed our minds about them. They are not Wholesome Artless Amazons, but Wenches, after all. And more W. A. A., we suspect that there is something between Miss Lawrence and the policeman at the soccer field. Jane Caskey states that it's fine to her Atherton affair, and would appreciate attention from other eligible sources. Isn't it too bad little Betty Noname didn't get credit for her last week's work in Chips? That's tuff, and being SENSITIVE, Rollo feels all cut up about it. This week's smooth nannies—Hawkins and Atwell promoting each other's petitions for junior class elections. So long, DICK ROLLO.

Faculty Gives Chair And Lamp to Marvin

The Hatchet learned today that the administrative faculty of the University gave a study chair and reading lamp to President Cloyd Heck Marvin in recognition of "cherished relations and your gracious hospitality" when the group had a "get-together" recently.

Speakers Congress Votes Approval of Eviction Order Aimed At Hunger Marchers

The Speakers' Congress upheld the policy of forcible exclusion from Washington of bonus marchers, hunger marchers and similar groups at its regular semi-monthly debate held in Corcoran Hall on Wednesday, November 30.

Before a meeting of 25 persons, David Betts and Frederick Joss successfully upheld the affirmative of the proposition that "Demonstrative groups organized to influence legislation should be prevented by force from entering the District of Columbia." Douglas Heslep and Clara Critchfield presented the arguments in opposition to the proposition. Edward Northrop presided.

Modern Poetry Club Gives Program on Robert Bridges

Offering a special program on Robert Bridges to be given by Jean Kirkwood, the Modern Poetry Club will begin a drive for new members at a meeting Friday in Corcoran Hall, Room 17, at 12:30 p. m.

The formal presentation of several volumes of poetry to the University library will be made by Monta Reudiger, last year's president, under whose direction funds for the purchase of these volumes were raised. John Russell Mason, associate librarian of the University, will be present to accept the gift.

Elmer Balough Will Lecture In Stockton Hall Wednesday

Students in all the schools and departments of the University will be privileged to hear Elmer Balough, permanent secretary general of the International Academy of Comparative Law at The Hague, when he lectures in Room 10 of Stockton Hall, December 7, from 11:10 to 12:10 o'clock, according to William Cabell Van Vleck, dean of the University School of Law.

Professor Balough, a Berlin jurist, is making a brief lecture tour of selected American and Canadian universities. Beside George Washington University, his itinerary includes speaking appearances at Harvard and New York University Law Schools. He will speak on "Some Chapters on the Characteristics of the German Constitution with Regard to Its Historical Foundation."

Basketball Season Opens Thursday

Shenandoah College Quintet Opposes Colonials in Season's Initial Court Contest

SIX GAMES AT TECH HIGH

Coach Jim Pixlee's Colonial quintet opens its season Thursday night at 8 o'clock when the Shenandoah College five will be met in the H street gymnasium. The Virginians, met in the curtain raiser for the past three years, always present a fast, scrappy club, which provides something more than the usual first game set-up. They have yet to be victorious against G. W., but may turn the tables this week.

With last year's winning team returning intact, this five undoubtedly will see much action during the game. However, with such a wealth of "giant" material on hand, fans may expect to see a team whose size alone will give the visitors lots of trouble.

Arrangements have been made to play six of the home games in the mammoth Tech High gym. Last year many fans were turned away from the "tin tabernacle," which accommodates only 800. The spacious McKinley auditorium, holding 4,000, will be the scene of the following games:

Dec. 15—Missouri.
Dec. 17—Duke.
Jan. 4—North Carolina State.
Jan. 21—St. Johns of Brooklyn.
Feb. 9—Wake Forest.
Feb. 16—Loyola.

Kappa Sigma sprang the major upset of the current inter-fraternity basketball tourney by defeating the heretofore unbeaten Sigma Nu quint, 35-22, and creating a three-way tie for the lead in League A.

The Kappa Sig courtmen, entering the game as distinct underdogs, exhibited a smooth passing attack that enabled them to outplay their rivals and keep ahead at all quarters of the game.

Hickman of Kappa Sig and Troup of Sigma Nu waged an individual scoring battle, with Hickman leading, 13 points to 12.

Three teams, Sigma Nu, Phi Sig and Kappa Sig are now tied with 4 wins and 1 loss apiece.

The playoff, beginning yesterday, found Phi Sig and Kappa Sig battling to meet Sigma Nu in tonight's game. The winner of tonight's game contests with S. P. E., the League B winner, on Wednesday for the championship.

In other games last week, Delta Tau Delta won the runner-up position in their league by wins over K. A., 31-13, and Acacia, 49-17. Alfaro, scoring 28 points, won second place among the leading scorers.

S. P. E. clinched the League B championship by defeating T. D. X., 39-21. Wickham, with 20 points, again led his team in scoring and continued to hold his lead for individual honors.

Kappa Sig won their first game of the week with T. U. O., 13-8. The game was close and hardly warranted the surprise which followed later in the week.

Phi Sig, in defeating S. A. E., 32-20, entered the three-way tie and plays Kappa Sig in the new draw.

Alpha Delta Pi Wins Ping-Pong Tourney

By virtue of winning over Sigma Kappa and Chi Omega in the semifinals and finals, Alpha Delta Pi carried away top honors in the Intramural ping-pong tournament which has been running throughout November. Chi Omega placed second.

The deciding matches were played Thursday, December 1, and resulted in the following scores: Alpha Delta Pi vs. Sigma Kappa, 6-2, 6-2; Alpha Delta Pi vs. Chi Omega, 6-3, 6-4.

This win for Alpha Delta Pi nets them ten points towards the Intramural cup and plaque awarded in the spring, while Chi Omega garners five.

League winners in volley ball are Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, and Alpha Delta Pi. Matches to decide the victor of the tournament are now being played.

NEW COACH

TED O'LEARY

New assistant varsity basketball coach, who arrived to take over his duties last week. A star at Kansas University, his reputation took on a national aspect when he led the Big Six in scoring last year and was unanimously selected for all-conference honors. Until recently chosen to aid Pixlee, he had acted as freshman mentor at his alma mater.

Assistance to First Team Gives Frosh Successful Season

Lose to Western Md., But Beat Radio Squad; Furnish Good Material For Next Year

Their activities over with the final scrimmage against the varsity two days before the Oklahoma game, the freshman football squad has completed a highly successful season.

While playing only two games, dropping one to the Western Maryland frosh in a close 13-6 decision, and beating the Radio squad 8-0, their contests were an unimportant part of their work. Their main contribution was in the stiff workouts that they gave the varsity all season, learning the enemies' attacks and using these formations against the first stringers until the latter were adept at stopping these offensives. Much of the varsity's success this year must be credited to the hard scrimmages they had with the freshmen.

The freshmen will furnish much material for next year's squad that will go a long way towards filling the many vacancies suffered by varsity graduates. Among the many hopeful prospects that are expected to help replace the missing regulars are: Rathjen, who is expected to take Blackstone's position at center; Bennefield, Farrbauer, Sawyer, and Vander Brugge, who will engage in a battle for the ends; Deming and Volkman, capable tackle material; Harrison and Kolker for guards; and much backfield strength in Plotnicki, Bomba, Davenport, Drury, Morrison and the Zubers.

Attendance Records Broken by Colonials

As 18,000 fans filed through the turnstiles for the Turkey Day game at Griffith Stadium, George Washington swept aside all existing attendance records for a local eleven in a season's play.

The Alabama contest broke all gate figures for a single game and began a succession of big crowds at Colonial grid engagements. Even at the Westminster and Catawba games, considered as easy for the G. W. aggregation, crowds of 7,500 and 6,000, respectively, were clicked.

The reasons given for the Colonials' sensational rise were a most auspicious schedule, that featured and brought intersectional opponents to Washington for the first time, an eleven that was capable of playing these teams on even terms, and one that utilized the open, daring style of play so popular with the fans.

There follows the attendance at each game and the season's total:

Westminster	7,500
Alabama	26,000
Catawba	6,000
Iowa	15,000
North Dakota State	13,000
William and Mary	15,000
Oklahoma	18,000
Total	100,500

A.A.U. Swim Record Broken by Ghormley

Dyer Ghormley, District 220-yard free-style champion, swam to another District speed record last Friday night at the District A. A. U. meet, when he clipped off the 100-yard breaststroke in 1 minute 14 3/5 seconds. The old record was 14 4/5 seconds.

John Hain placed first by swimming the 100-yard back-stroke in 1:15. In the 100-yard free style Fred Helwig led all the way to win in 1:07.

Frosh Swimmers Beat Central High, S. A. C. Champions

Winning of Medley Relay Breaks Tie and Wins Meet by 39-36 Score

Opening the swimming season Saturday night in the Ambassador Hotel pool, George Washington's freshman natators nosed out Central High's South Atlantic Conference title holders, in a thrilling 39-36 victory. Deadlocked in a 33-33 tie when the call for the medley relay came, the G. W. team, composed of Hain, Ghormley and Helwig, led Hodgson, MacDonald and Wood of Central to the finish in that event.

The Buff and Blue swimmers placed first in six of the eight events, but the high school boys pulled in a number of seconds and thirds to keep in the running. Ghormley, of G. W., holder of two District titles, swam in both of the relays and easily won the 100-yard breast stroke. His teammate, Helwig, also swam in the two relays and won the 220 free style race. For Central, Baumgarten and Graves won the 100-yard free style and the low board diving respectively.

Summaries:
200-Yard Relay—Won by G. W. (Helwig, Vartia, Vedder, Ghormley), 1:39.

Invasion Into Big Time Football Marks Colonials' Season; Fenlon Outstanding Star of the Year

Total	75

By ROBERT P. HERZOG
Six victories; two defeats; and one tie; a seven-word story of the most successful football season that The George Washington University ever had. Meeting opponents of the highest calibre, and demonstrating a brand of football that is surpassed by only a few teams, the Pixlee trained men worked their way up to a position in the inner football circle.

Accepting only two defeats, and those at the hands of Alabama, voted by many writers Southern Conference champions, and Tulsa U., one of the best teams in the southwest, the Colonial season must be labeled "successful." To top off a grand season, the Pixlees held Oklahoma U. runners-up for the Big Six championship, to a 7-7 tie.

Fred Mulvey started the fireworks by catching a pass that netted the first touchdown against Washington and Lee. After a multitude of glamorous incidents and sensational plays, Thanksgiving Day ended with a 25-yard pass from Fenlon to the waiting fingers of Nig McCarver, as the closing whistle blew.

McKinnis Gains Most
Statistics regarding the individual play of the backfield have been compiled; and to Paul McKinnis, sophomore full back, goes the honor of gaining the most yards from scrimmage. McKinnis played in only one game, carried the ball six times, and averaged nearly seven yards on a try. Fenlon was second, averaging 4.8; Baker, 4.7; Carter, 4.4; McCarver, 3.8; and Kriemelmeyer, the only back who played in all nine games, 2.9.

Foremost among linesmen this season has been Walter Slaird, veteran right tackle. Slaird's graduation will make a gap hard to fill in the forward wall. His sterling performances in games this season, and particularly in the Oklahoma tilt, will long stand as a football precedent at George Washington.

Credit must be given likewise to Fred Mulvey, Bob Galloway, Capt. Chambers and a host of others in the line who have striven to make this season such a tremendous success. Baker, McCarver, Parrish and Kriemelmeyer in the backfield have proven capable running mates for Johnny Fenlon, sensational running and passing back. Fenlon, the hero and star of the '32 season, needs no introduction to G. W. grid fans. His spectacular playing was fittingly climaxed on Thanksgiving.

BACKFIELD RECORD

Name	No. of times	No. of carries	Total yds.	Avg. yds. per rush
Fenlon	7	119	567 1/2	4.8

Expedition to Sail in January to Find Unknown Crea- tures of Depths

Dr. Paul Bartsch, professor of zoology and curator of mollusks of the National Museum, will head a scientific expedition to explore the abyssal darkness of the greatest depths of the Atlantic Ocean.

The expedition will set sail about January 15 in the yacht Caroline, which was placed at the disposal of the Smithsonian scientists by Eldridge R. Johnson, of Philadelphia. The first cruise will go to Puerto Rico, where a study will be made of the weird creatures dwelling in perpetual darkness.

Actively cooperating in the expedition will be the Navy Department; the Carnegie Institute; Dr. William Beebe, director of tropical research of the New York Zoological Society; and Dr. Henry Bigelow, of the Oceanographic Institute of Woods Hole, Mass. The interclass hockey cup went to the junior class and the tennis doubles cup to Ted Clarey and Marjorie Butler. Helen Bunten was announced as the high-point scorer in the individual archery tournament.

The above awards in hockey and soccer were made chiefly on the basis of the results of the Fall Sports week which culminated the fall season.

Class games in hockey resulted in the following scores: sophomores 3, freshmen 2; juniors 4, seniors 3; freshmen 3, seniors 2; juniors 2, sophomores 2; seniors 5, sophomores 3; and juniors 2, freshmen 1.

Soccer contests list the following scores: sophomores 1, seniors 1; freshmen 3, juniors 2; freshmen 3, seniors 3; sophomores 3, juniors 0; and juniors 3, seniors 1.

From all the class teams odd and even teams were picked by the coaches and managers of the various sports. The odd teams consisted of outstanding senior and sophomore players, while in the even teams were combined the best players of the junior and freshman teams.

The odd-even games resulted in a 2-1 victory for the odds in hockey and a 0-0 tie in soccer.

The honorary varsity teams, consisting of the women who received their major or minor letters, were picked from the players on the odd-even teams.

Bell Merits Award In Picture Contest

Letter on "Widespread Repu- tation of Troubadours" Writ- ten in Poetry

First prize in the picture cut contest, sponsored by Troubadours in the University Hatchet, has been awarded to Charles A. Bell. Besides having his pictures correctly and neatly arranged, his letter on "The Widespread Reputation of Troubadours" is both original and comprehensive, in the opinion of the Troubadour Board, which judged the letters. Bell will receive two $1.50 reserved seat tickets.

His letter is in the form of a parody on "The Halls of Montezuma":

"From the halls of old, G. W.
To the shores of our fair land,
You will find the fame of Troubadours
Spreading out on every hand.
First to volunteer for each affair,
And to put on 'one swell show',
They have come through fine year after year,
And they sing on the radio."

"Troubadours have gone from our great school
To a taste of Broadway's fame,
Many now have made the stage their life,
Greater glory to their name.
If the frat men and the co-eds
Ever gaze on Heaven's shores,
They will find the best shows are put on
By our own school's Troubadours."

Carroll Cowles has been awarded second prize, two $1.00 seats. In the letter he submits, he writes of the Troubadours as an organization that "has taken its place among the most outstanding events of the Capital's theatrical season. Publications of other universities have awarded the Troubadours a high position in the ranks of leading dramatic organizations."

Gordon Potter, in his letter which also won two $1.00 seats as third prize, says, "With such a superlative reputation gained over a period of eight years, the organization bids fair to record itself in the annals of Washington amateur theatricals in glowing letters of true brilliance."

Honorable mention is accorded to Betty Rose for her commendable letter.
